

THE READI For Disasters Act

Readying Elders and Americans with Disabilities Inclusively for Disasters

Draft U.S. Senate Legislation

November 8, 2018

- ▶ Of the 48 million people affected by Hurricanes and Wildfires in 2017, over 12 million were people with disabilities.
- ▶ During and following disasters, people with disabilities are injured and die at a rate higher than the general population.
- ▶ Households of people with disabilities are more likely to need assistance and less likely to evacuate in advance of disasters due to accessibility issues.

REASONS FOR THE BILL

- ▶ Evacuation information, including orders, are not uniformly communicated in accessible media and languages.
- ▶ During disasters, public shelters often do not have disability related accommodations, forcing people with disabilities to be segregated, sometimes apart from their families and natural supports.

- ▶ Historically, disaster-related recommendations for people with disabilities have been aimed at caregivers and families members, not people with disabilities.
- ▶ During and following disasters, people with disabilities are more at risk for loss of life, loss of independence, and violation of civil rights than the general population.

- ▶ To improve inclusion of people with disabilities in preparation for, response to, recovery from, and mitigation of disasters.
- ▶ To protect the civil rights of people with disabilities during and following disasters.
- ▶ To ensure the ADA, the Rehab Act, and other disability laws are followed during preparation for, response to, recovery from, and mitigation of disasters.

GOALS OF THE BILL

- ▶ To improve the coordination among communities of people with disabilities and Federal, State, and local governments and VOADs and other non-governmental organizations in preparation for, response to, recovery from, and mitigation of disasters.
- ▶ To improve the outcomes for people with disabilities who are disaster-affected.
